Conference Description

For close to 30 years, The Trust has been providing continuing education workshops and individual consultations with a focus on improving psychologists' risk management skills and strategies. These workshops have evolved from basic concepts and strategies, to a more applied, integrated, and strategic approach to help you protect yourself from adverse disciplinary and legal actions and to support competent practice.

For this newest workshop, The Trust Risk Management Consultants have continued to review data from nearly 90,000 consultations provided to date, along with relevant research, to determine the problems practitioners often confront, and potential strategies for addressing them. The topics in this new workshop will include an updated review of decision science and its implications for bias and vulnerability in clinical, ethical and risk management decision making, strategies for reducing the impact of these vulnerabilities, issues arising in remote services (during and beyond the pandemic), addressing boundaries in advocacy by professionals on behalf of their clients/patients, and the risk- management implications of self-care (or its absence) for psychologists.

*NOTE: Nebraska psychology regulations now require at least 3 of the 24 hours of continuing education must be in ethics relating to psychology.

Sponsored by:
Nebraska Psychological Association
The Trust Insurance Company

LEARNING OBJECTIVES

- Describe three general challenges to unbiased decision-making
- Identify three vulnerabilities that can affect clinician decision-making.
- List four strategies to address decision-making bias and improve ethical and risk management choices
- Summarize three risk-related aspects to remote service provision
- Differentiate general areas in which professional advocacy is and is not appropriate
- Identify two issues when psychotherapy patients make quasi-forensic requests
- Evaluate three methods of engaging in self-care to support better practice and risk-management

CONTINUING EDUCATION CREDIT

The Nebraska Psychological Association is approved by the American Psychological Association to sponsor continuing education for psychologists. The Nebraska Psychological Association maintains responsibility for this program and its contents. Participants attending this conference can receive 6 CEs for psychologists. Full attendance at the workshop is required to receive CE credit for psychologists. No partial credit is awarded; late arrival or early departure will preclude awarding of CE credits for psychologists. Those arriving more than 15 minutes after the scheduled start time or leaving before the workshop is completed will not receive CE credits and will not be eligible for the 15% premium discount described below. This program meets the criteria of an approved continuing education program for mental health practice.

Written notification is required on or before October 2, 2023, for complete refund of registration fee.
